

Future Homeowner Aubrey Green

Habitat for Humanity Williamson-Maury is happy to introduce Aubrey Green and her daughter Alasey (11) to the Homeownership Program.

Ms. Green was born in Davidson County at Baptist Hospital. Her father was a member of the US Army, which meant her family often moved. However, Tennessee has always been home to Aubrey, and she now lives in Columbia. She works full-time at the Speech, Language & Learning Center, and attends MTSU where she's working on finishing up her second undergraduate degree in university studies. Her dream is to become a clinical psychologist.

“Although my parents worked long hours when I was growing up, they always found the time to teach me important lessons,” she remarks. “My mother taught me that tough times never last, but tough people do. My father taught me the value of integrity and being honest.”

“This opportunity is a blessing. I am so grateful for all of the people that are helping me achieve my goals,” she says with a big smile. “I’m looking forward to my daughter being in safe neighborhood. I want to know that when she gets off of the school bus, she’ll make it home and that I don’t have to worry about her. Alasey enjoys reading and is an excellent swimmer. She hopes to one day become a marine biologist.”

Aubrey is excited to finally be in a stable home. She plans on continuing her education and being the best role model possible for Alasey.

Aubrey’s home build will begin in the fall of 2019 in the Willow Crest subdivision in Fairview, TN.
