

future homeowner
Joshlin
McKissack

Habitat for Humanity Williamson-Maury is happy to introduce Joshlin McKissack and her three children, Ashureah (16), Abria (5), & Joshua (3) to the Homeownership Program. Joshlin was born and raised in Franklin, alongside her seven siblings.

Joshlin was ecstatic when she heard she was going to be a future homeowner. "I want to better my children's lives and I'm so excited that Habitat has accepted me. This is truly a blessing from God. I'm so excited to get to know the other families and help build my house. This is a life-changing opportunity. I applied previously and was denied, but I never gave up. I knew one day I'd be a homeowner," she said.

Joshlin works full-time at Maristone of Franklin, an assisted living center. She likes to read, spend time with her children, and watch them dance. "My family is very high-energy. We all love to joke around and laugh at each other," she says with a big smile. "There is never a dull moment in our household."

This mother of three believes that a caring heart and a optimistic attitude are key to overcoming life's challenges. She strives to bring these tools to everything she does. "I never know what others are going through, so I always try to remain positive and loving."

"I'd like to thank everyone who has sponsored my home and everyone who will be helping me build. You all could have chosen to donate your time and resources elsewhere, but you chose to help my family. I am beyond grateful," she shares.

Joshlin McKissack's home build will begin in the Spring of 2020 in Columbia, TN.
