The Frierson Family

Habitat for Humanity Williamson-Maury is happy to welcome Keo Frierson and his son Grayson (2) to the Homeownership Program.

Keo was born and raised in Franklin and attended Centennial High School. As a child, he enjoyed playing basketball, making music, and playing video games. His aptitude for technology led him to win a 1st place prize in Media Sound Concepts at the Williamson County Film Festival while still in high school. Currently he works full time at Caliber Collison and has so for the past two years.

Mr. Frierson and his sister were raised by their mother and grandparents in the house his grandparents owned. His grandfather worked in construction, and grandmother worked as a housekeeper. He remarks that living in a multi-generational household taught him a multitude of skills. He learned work ethic and dedication from his grandparents and strong parenting skills from his mother, who passed away in 2019. “My mom took care of our home while my grandparents worked,” he noted. “She was a wonderful mother.”

When he found out recently that his grandmother would be selling his childhood home, Keo went to work seeking out affordable housing options. “As a single father, I was having a hard time finding anything reasonable for one income,” he explained. “I was so thankful to learn about Habitat for Humanity Williamson-Maury’s (HFHWM) Homeownership Program and for the opportunity to provide a stable, safe home for my son.”

Mr. Frierson says the HFHWM Homeownership Program has been a wonderful experience so far, teaching him valuable financial and practical skills. “It’s great to know people care enough to help families in need,” Keo noted. “I want give a special thanks to my sponsors for their acts of kindness. Without your help I am not sure homeownership would be possible.”

Keo Frierson’s home build will begin in the Spring of 2022 in Columbia.
